Task 6: Reading Comprehension Read the story. Then answer the questions. Circle the correct answers.

When I was young, I loved cats. I would go visit my friends, and we'd play games and watch TV. My friends all had pets. It was fun, but there was a bad part, too. I would sneeze and get a bad rash at their houses.

One day, I was at my best friend's house, and I started sneezing. My skin got swollen and red. I sneezed so loudly that my friend's cat ran out of the room. I was worried because I thought I had scared the cat, but, as soon as the cat left, I suddenly stopped sneezing.

My friend looked at me and laughed. I asked him, "What are you laughing about? It's not funny to scare the cat!"

He laughed harder, "William, I can't believe it! All these times you've been coming to my house you sit with my cat the whole time. And guess what?"

"What?" I asked.

"You're allergic to cats, William!" he exclaimed.

I thought a second and said, "You're right! All of you have cats!"

After that day, my friends all came to my house instead, or we went to the park!

 - C. How William discovered he had a problem
 - D. Why William had to give his cat away
2. How was William's house different from his friends' houses?
 - A. There were no animals.
 - B. There were no games.

 - A. because William scared the cat away
 - B. because William had a rash on his skin
 - C. because he didn't know William could sneeze so loudly
 - D. because they didn't know William had an allergy
